Deleting Act Clause May Cost Million C.C.F. Head States

Says Hart "Misinformed, Misled Or Double-Crossed" On Power Bill

C.C.F. Opposition Leader Harold Winch, in a political address here last night, charged that by deletion of a protective clause from amendments to the Electric Power Act last session, British Columbia taxpayers stood to lose more than $1,000,000 in prices to be paid for expropriated power plants, plus thousands of dollars in unnecessary legal expenses.

Questioning the manner in which the clause was removed from the original amending bill, he gave it as his personal opinion that former Premier John Hart had been "either misinformed, misled, or double-crossed."

He made that statement after a review of litigation over prices to be paid by B.C. Power Commission for expropriated generating plants of Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd., West Canadian Hydro-Electric Corporation, and Columbia Power Co. Ltd.

PLACED VALUATION

American Appraisal Company of Milwaukee, engaged by the commission to make an independent appraisal, placed a valuation of $5,-674,612 on the three against the commission's assessment of $4,500,000.

The commission's subsequent appeal was ruled out by the courts on the ground that notice had not been given within the required 30 days.

This, Mr. Winch declared, was notwithstanding the fact that C. H. Locke (now Mr. Justice Locke), engaged by the Government, had advised that the appeal was in order.

"It is my personal opinion," he went on, "that Premier Hart last January or February foresaw the possibility of technicalities developing, with the result that when he introduced an amendment to the Electric Power Act last session it contained a clause to take care of the situation that has now developed."

He read a section in the first reading bill to empower a Supreme Court judge to enlarge the time within which an appeal should be taken, even though the application was not made within the prescribed time.

"That's as the bill came before the Legislature, but that section is not in the act that finally passed," the C.C.F. leader continued. "It was removed while the bill was in committee. As nearly as I can find, when that section came before the committee Mr. Hart was not on the floor of the House. He can't always be.

"The result is that taxpayers now find themselves facing a Privy Council action and thousands of dollars of legal expenses. And if the Privy Council upholds the lower court decision, it will cost the Province more than $1,000,000.

INTRODUCED CLAUSE

"Since Premier Hart introduced this protective clause, it is my opinion that either he was misled by Mr. Locke, that he was misinformed by his Attorney-General's Department, or that he was double-crossed in the interests of private enterprise.

"The C.C.F. is going to demand that the Government immediately introduce an act to amend the Electric Power Act, containing the section that was left out last year, and make it retroactive so as to stop the Privy Council case and save that $1,000,000.

"They have the power to do it. If they refuse, then the C.C.F., when the House opens on March 2, will demand a commission of inquiry to find out just why that protecting section was omitted, what advice was received from Mr. Locke and the Attorney-General's Department, and why the appeal was not filed in time."

Abbott Talks on Prices As Housewives Protest

Group Set For Parade

VANCOUVER, Jan. 9 (CP)—Housewives have developed a look of worry over soaring food costs, especially the fast advance in meats, and plan to do something about it. Tomorrow, rain or shine, will see them in a parade line carrying pig-shaped placards voicing their protests.

Bouncing bacon prices—as high as $1.10 a pound in some stores—set off parade plans sponsored by the British Columbia Housewives Consumers' Association.

Parade slogans will demand reimposition of price controls at the January, 1946, levels, not only for meats, but for all essential foods.

"We can't stretch our pay cheques," was the general complaint and some storekeepers apparently listened to the voices.

One of the larger stores advertised bacon at 65 cents a pound, a Saturday special, and others planned to follow suit, while at the New Westminster market, bacon and other smoked meats sold 35 cents a pound under retail prices in Greater Vancouver.

But even at the reduced price there were few sales. At the market, farmers stood idle behind stacked counters of bacon, hams, pork chops and tenderloin.

"We expected our bargains in bacon would start a rush," moaned one farmer. "It's sure quiet."

The paraders with the pig-shaped placards have their Sunday menu planned—no choice meat cuts, but stewbeef or hamburger.

Roses Less Edible But Less Costly

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 (CP)—If you want to be really clever and start the newest of new looks, wear the cabbages and eat the roses.

With all the restrictions on imported vegetables, prices were so strange that cabbages sold this mid-Winter day in Montreal for $6 a dozen.

And in the flower shop across the street the sign read: "Roses $5 a dozen."

Vegetables Disappear On Prairies

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 (CP).—An official of the Retail Merchants' Association said today supplies of fresh vegetables in Winnipeg were dwindling fast and "within a few days there will be none at all."

F. M. Boxall, association secretary, made the statement in disclosing that a campaign would be undertaken to obtain the signatures of 10,000 consumers in the province to a petition that Manitoba obtain "more equitable vegetable supplies."

Letters will be sent to fruit and vegetable stores throughout the province. Mr. Boxall said they would state that the present shortage of green vegetables constitutes a reason for high prices and a danger to health. Storekeepers will be asked to get customers to sign the letters which will be gathered in as a petition.

Full Control 'Impossible'

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (CP)—"Selective reimposition" of price control to stem the rising cost of living in Canada is "possible," Finance Minister Abbott said today, but the Government contemplates no return to the wartime system of over-all control "as there is no justification for it."

Discussing Canada's financial position in the present dollar-short postwar world, the minister said of a possible return of price control:

"I don't believe that the imposition of an over-all price control policy is possible in peacetime. It is possible that there might be selective reimposition of price control but that will depend on what Parliament decides and also on what may happen down here.

"We import so many basic things from the United States that the price level here is bound to have a very serious effect on our level. Since June of 1946 the prices of things we import from the United States have risen about 40 per cent."

The value to Canada of the Marshall Plan—was "obvious," the Minister said, providing that it is approved by Congress and that off-shore purchases, whereby the United States would pay for goods supplied to Europe by other countries, are authorized. Such financial help would go a long way toward easing the Dominion's current economic troubles and might even solve them.

The Minister was cautious as to what he thought Canada's cost-of-living index would reach. He recalled that last year he remarked casually that it probably would level off at about 145.00 and if it did, that would be satisfactory. Now it had touched 146.00 and he refused to prophesy whether it would reach 150.00, as expected in some financial quarters.

British Troops Halt Invading Arab Force

JERUSALEM, Jan. 9 (AP)—Six hundred Arab guerrillas, in the first major invasion across the Palestine border from Syria, attacked two Jewish settlements in Upper Galilee today and were beaten off by British troops and planes, the Palestine Government said.

The British-administered Government disclosed that it had asked its minister in Syria to make representations to the Syrian Government concerning the attacks.

For 2½ hours the battle swirled around the settlements of Kfar Szold and Dan before reinforced British troops supported by artillery and R.A.F. Spitfires brought the situation under control. Reports from the area said sporadic firing continued tonight.

THREE JEWS DIE

Three Jews were killed and eight others wounded in the Arab attacks which centred on a finger of Palestine extending northward between Syria and Lebanon.

Some unconfirmed reports said the operation was directed by Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, veteran Arab warrior and leader of the bloody uprising of Arabs in Palestine a decade ago.

He has been described as a commander of the Arab People's Army, the volunteer guerrilla force recently organized in Arab countries surrounding Palestine to fight the projected Holy Land partition. Jewish sources said they presumed the Arab invaders were members of the People's Army.

Jewish reports from Upper Galilee said Arab attackers in the area, a half-mile to a mile inside Palestine, were equipped with modern arms and wore uniforms roughly similar to those of the Syrian Army. A uniform of this type has been described as that of the Arab People's Army, assembling in Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Egypt and undergoing final training in Syria.

The official report gave no details of the air support, merely noting that arrival of the planes in mid-afternoon "had good effect."

In London, highly qualified informants in Whitehall said tonight the United States has asked and received approval from the Palestine Government to dispatch United States marines to the Holy Land as a guard for the American Consulate there.

One source said he did not know how many marines might be sent, nor when they would arrive. A contingent of marines left North Carolina this week with the announced assignment of joining United States fleet units in the Mediterranean.

The Palestine Government operates under British mandate, and the dispatch of marines presumably would have British approval.

BULLETINS

Six Arrested

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Six Europeans were arrested in the foreign section of Toronto tonight as Royal Canadian Mounted Police probed reports that the area, not far from City Hall, may have become the "hide-out" of perhaps scores of Europeans unlawfully in Canada.

Vessel in Tow

TOKIO, Jan. 9 (AP).—A Russian patrol craft was reported tonight to have made a line fast to the floundering Russian ship Dvina, in distress in heavy seas some 100 miles off the east coast of Hokkaido.

The Dvina, whose master reported he had 780 passengers aboard, was still listing at a 38-degree angle.

Find Opium Cache

SEATTLE, Jan. 9 (AP).—Customs agents seized six pounds of opium tonight from under a winch on the deck of the British steamship Silver Walnut, from Calcutta, India. It was the largest such seizure since last July.

Rumor of Note Changes Alarms Black Market

LONDON, Jan. 9 (CP).—A Bank of England statement indicated today that Britain's black market operators have lost their nerve.

The bank, now under public ownership, revealed that the fiduciary note issue has dropped $200,000,000 to $5,600,000,000, the first decline since the war started. This means a decline in the number of pound notes in circulation.

Unconfirmed rumors that the Government planned to call in present pound notes and replace them with a new issue alarmed black market operators who did their business in cash. They feared that they might be required to convert their notes at banks and awkward inquiries would be made if amounts offered were large.

Bank officials said that it was "quite possible" that unloading of currency by black market operators, tax evaders and others was responsible for the decrease in pound holdings by the public. Such individuals would be likely to invest their notes in paintings, diamonds, antique furniture and similar commodities as an investment.

U.S. Submarines Bolster Defences of Dardanelles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The United States today bolstered the defences of the Dardanelles by the transfer of four powerful long-range submarines to the Turkish Navy, plus 11 other warcraft especially suitable for operations in that strategic Middle Eastern area.

This brings to 33 the number of former American war vessels assigned this week for service with the Turkish and Greek fleets and serves as a potent reminder to Russia that it is not intended to permit the Black Sea waterway to fall under Communist control.

Today's announcement by the U.S. Navy climaxes a series of military and diplomatic moves designed to put Russia and her Balkan satellites on notice that any action to change the balance of power in that traditional "tinder box" area will result in serious consequences.

Already 1,000 or more Marines, fully equipped for landing operations, are en route to the Mediterranean. Next month Vice-Admiral Forrest Sherman, former chief planning officer for Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, will take command of the Mediterranean naval forces.

Greece today also was assigned six gunboats. These are in addition to 11 minesweepers which the State Department disclosed Monday had been sold to that guerrilla-embattled country.

The addition of four undersea vessels to the Turkish fleet brings its strength in that category to only 14, which is decidedly small in comparison with Russia's reported total of 250.

House Opens On March 2

Tuesday, March 2, was announced by Premier Byron Johnson yesterday as opening date of the third session of British Columbia's 21st Legislature. Ceremonial opening by Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks will be at 3 p.m.

This means that the House will have to recess over the Easter holidays, beginning March 26; and also that it will open without two new members to be elected in Saanich and Cariboo by-elections.

Although by-elections will be held February 23, writs are not returnable for 14 and 21 days, respectively, and successful candidates cannot be seated until the writs are returned.

Conservatives Won't Contest Saanich Seat

In terms of coalition agreements, Progressive Conservatives in Saanich will not nominate a candidate in opposition to the Liberal candidate to be selected by a joint convention, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Progressive Conservative provincial leader and co-leader of the Johnson-Anscomb Coalition Government, announced last night.

Mr. Anscomb said a Coalition convention would be held in Saanich in the near future to select a candidate for the February 23 by-election to replace the former member, Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker.

He stated that his party supporters in Saanich would select a similar number of delegates as the Liberals, that the Liberal party delegates would nominate their own candidates and Conservative delegates would vote as they saw fit on those nominated, but would not make any nominations themselves.

"This is the basis of the agreement made at the time of the last provincial election," Mr. Anscomb explained, "and will hold until the next general election, at which time, if the coalition continues, a new formula for the election of candidates will be found."

So far, three Saanich Liberals are in the field for nomination: Arthur J. R. Ash, association president; K. M. Lewis, immediate past president, and Saanich Councillor J. L. Hobbs.

Saanich Liberal Association will meet Monday night.

B.C. Studies Hospital Aid

Statements from all British Columbia hospitals showing their financial position at September 30 last have been called for by Provincial Secretary and Health and Welfare Minister G. S. Pearson, the minister disclosed here yesterday.

This is in preparation for reconsideration by Provincial Government of its financial aid policy in the light of increased hospital costs that have placed some in financial straits.

As yet, new policy has not been determined, but the hospitals' problem has been given high priority by his department, Mr. Pearson said.

"It may be necessary to devise an entirely new policy," he added.

Noting that hospital authorities were proposing doubling of the Government's patient-day grant, the minister emphasized that local authorities were primarily responsible for financing and management of their institutions.

Heads Delegation

GEN. A. G. L. McNAUGHTON

Who was appointed by the Dominion Government today as head of Canada's permanent delegation to the United Nations in New York. Gen. McNaughton will be the Canadian member on the United Nations Security Council, and will continue to hold his post as the Canadian member of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Civil Servants To Talk Wages

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (CP).—Officials of the Civil Service Association of Ottawa said tonight that of the estimated $25,000,000 increased Government expenditure involved in recent increase of civil service salaries, only $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 will actually go to the civil service and declared the salary question again will be reviewed when the association council meets here January 12.

These officials said that most of the $25,000,000 will go to other groups covered in the recent increases, including pensioners, war veterans and the armed services.

While increases granted the clerical classes of the civil service amount to from $30 to $40 a month when based on 1939 rates, actual increases over 1947 salaries are in the majority of cases only from $9 to $13 a month, with a maximum of $25 for the higher grades.

City Businessmen To Fete Politicians

A GROUP of Victoria businessmen next Wednesday entertain elected representatives of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel, it was learned yesterday.

The gathering will actually be a no-host affair at which each elected representative of the various civic and municipal bodies will be the guest of a businessman of the city. It has been arranged to introduce elected representatives of the Greater Victoria area to the businessmen of the city.

Robbers Make Mistake Of Speaking Too Loudly

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9 (AP).—Police arrested three suspects and recovered bags of money today a few hours after five bandits took about $130,000 from the Mid-City branch of the Hibernia National Bank.

The holdup was an expert job—but police said the robbers made the mistake of talking too loudly when they made their plans in a bar.

"If we had known last night what we knew this morning," officers commented, "we could have greeted the men at the bank."

A suitcase seized by police when two men were arrested contained $35,000, police estimated, adding that $30,000 was found in a paper bag in the room of another suspect.

The men in custody, charged with armed robbery, were identified as George Ricketts, 23, and his 21-year-old nephew, Tommie Ricketts, and John Hassenbeck, 23.

Police said Hassenbeck was the driver of the automobile in which the robbers made their getaway.

Authorities said an informant heard the holdup being planned. The man telephoned police headquarters last night, officers said, but did not tell his story at that time because the officer to whom he wanted to talk was off duty.

After the arrests, police commented that "we have a pretty good idea who the others are."

The robbery went off with precision, almost as though the armed thugs had rehearsed every step.

The holdup involved the largest haul in recent years in the United States and was the second major one of the day. In Cambridge, Mass., two gunmen robbed a big department store and escaped with $50,000, throwing smoke bombs to cover their getaway.

The Massachusetts thieves acted as the cash was being delivered to the Harvard Co-operative Society store by a special bank guard in an armored car. One bandit seized the money bags while a second tossed several smoke bombs at the entrance of the store. A third man waited in the escape car.

Traffic Fine Line

Bounded on each side by the snow that caused their troubles, hundreds of motorists stand in line at the Queens traffic court, New York City, to pay snow-parking fines. They got a "break" when a higher fine was reduced to $4. In the city, 10,536 summonses were returnable for the day.

Remove Traffic Buttons Urges Automobile Club

Request that "dummy policemen," also known as traffic buttons and stop blisters, be removed from Victoria streets as soon as possible has been sent to the City Council public works committee by the Victoria Automobile Club.

The works committee has tabled the request.

Writing for the club, George I. Warren, managing secretary, said: "It is their opinion that the blisters and bumps on the streets are a hazard to traffic, and with the advent of the buses many of them are not needed at all."

The committee is recommending rescinding of a city by-law prohibiting the use of barbed wire in Victoria. An amendment will be sought which will permit the use of barbed wire wholly within the property line and placed in such a manner as will be approved by the building inspector and the fire chief.

Approval will be sought for a 40-foot prohibited parking zone on the north side of Fisgard Street west of Blanshard. The committee believes it will increase traffic safety at the intersection.

Hearing Ends On Quashing Of Warrants

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of Ontario Supreme Court today reserved judgment in the defence motion to quash five Alberta warrants charging Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of New Liberty Magazine and its Ottawa editor, Harold Dingman, with conspiracy to publish defamatory libel.

Earlier in the day-long hearing Defence Counsel Joseph Sedgwick, K.C., of Toronto said rejection of his motion could have "serious consequences" for Ontario newspapers.

"A political party in power in some other province could, if this proceeding is upheld, stifle the whole press of Ontario," Mr. Sedgwick said.

This would result, he claimed, from issuance of warrants "for the arrest of publishers and editors on charges of conspiracy whenever anything is printed that does not agree" with the party in power.

Today's hearing arose from the issuing at Edmonton of five warrants, two under the Criminal Code, two under common law, and one charging Cooke with counselling a New Liberty distributor to publish defamatory libel.

Those grieved by the alleged libel were said to be Charles S. Hill, Alberta Child Welfare Commissioner, and members of the Welfare Commission.

The alleged libel, Alberta Attorney-General Lucien Maynard announced previously, was contained in an article entitled "Babies for Export," written by Dingman and published in the December 27 issue of New Liberty.

Police Probe $1,850 Theft

Provincial Police at Port Alberni are investigating reported theft of $1,850 in bonds and bills from a private residence there.

Headquarters in Victoria said yesterday Mrs. Mabel Saxby had reported $1,350 in Canadian Government bonds and $500 in $20 bills stolen from her house on 9th Avenue South, some time Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

Group Charges Injustice In New School District

Re-establishment of a separate school district to serve unorganized areas south of Koksilah River, now part of District No. 65, was strongly urged by a delegation which met Education Minister W. T. Straith here yesterday.

Representing Bench, Cobble Hill, Mill Bay and Sylvania districts, the delegation presented a petition signed by 482 taxpayers drawing attention to alleged injustices resulting from inclusion of the southern districts with Duncan and North Cowichan.

Mr. Straith, who promised to visit the district when duties of office will permit, was told the Southern areas were under the handicap of being administered by remote control, and that schools in organized portions of District 65 were getting first consideration.

It was contended that a high school, properly located in the area embraced by the petition, would be an advantage from the points of view of both education and economy.

"We believe that the present system of herding teen-age children into great buildings in order to obtain a modern education is on the verge of obsolescence," the petition maintained.

View was expressed that high school education was being much too heavily stressed at the expense of elementary education.

Introduced to the minister by Cmdr. C. T. Beard, M.L.A., the delegation comprised Reeve D. Chapman, North Cowichan Municipality; G. E. Bonner, C. B. Meredith, G. T. Smythe, Stephen Dougan, Richard Brown and Capt. Donald Peck.

Psychiatrist's Report Clears Veteran of Theft

BALTIMORE, Jan 9 (AP) An unnerved war veteran was freed of a burglary charge today when a court psychiatrist reported he broke into a shop under the delusion he was getting ammunition for his buddies

Dr. Jacob Conn testified that Wilour Shattuck's "anxiety hysteria" was confirmed twice through examination after he had been hypnotized and again under the influences of "truth serum"

The 32-year-old veteran of the ... treatment in hospital

Dr Conn reported that under hypnosis Shattuck writhed around slapping at flies and mosquitoes, muttered "Vines . . . vines," and talked about comrades killed in the next foxhole

One of the examining psychiatrists mentioned a truck.

"They need ammo. I took a truck ... Dr Conn quoted Shattuck

The psychiatrist said the hypnosis examination produced one sequence in which Shattuck described how he killed a Japanese in a struggle at a sentry post

The specialist conceded that patients under hypnotic examination may sometimes exaggerate He said further tests using truth serum and other evidence convince him the diagnosis is correct in this case

"He attacked his wife and crawled ... hed him," Dr. Conn said

"Everything indicates it was a valid, authentic hypnotic experience which is not being imitated It is a very complex psychological problem of an emotionally unstable veteran who has not been able to digest his war experiences"

Authorities agreed that the state could well forget about the charge.

France Seeking Suitable Terms Prior to German Zone Merger

PARIS, Jan. 9 (AP) —When it comes to a zonal merger in Western Germany, France is anxious but extremely cautious

What France wants is a combination of security and financial guarantees plus assistance in postwar reconstruction which France wishes to get from Britain and the United States before saying "yes" to the Western powers

With this price in mind the French Government is willing to talk it over. Indeed, some conciliatory talks are going on now, which may be capped by a formal three-power meeting on the foreign minister level in Washington

At London last month, French Foreign Minister Bidault abandoned his role of compromiser between East and West and stood beside Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain and State Secretary Marshall of the United States when the deadlock broke up the ministers' council sessions on German problems

The choice, then, has already been made up to a point. France however, realizes that the United States and Britain are more eager than she for the merger and consequently she wants to get the proper terms

In speaking of security, France means primarily security against another renewal of German aggression which three times since 1870 has brought ruin and death across the Republic

France also holds that Allied countries which were the victims of German aggression should have priority in the distribution of coal and steel to enable to achieve recovery ahead of the erstwhile Germans.

As for the Saar, France is proceeding with a de facto integration of the Saar Valley—depository of rich coal fields—into the French economy with the explicit, but unsigned approval of Britain and the United States.

The Saar Valley is important to French plans for industrial rehabilitation which envisaged the development of a much larger steel industry in Northern France on the basis of Lorraine ore, assisted by import of German coal.

...Oddities...

ROTTERDAM, N.Y., Jan. 9 (AP). —The impression left in a snowbank by a front licence plate he didn't need until February 1 led yesterday to arrest and a $100 fine for a motorist.

Sirens screamed. Police arrived The crowd got bigger. Finally an ambulance rushed him to hospital

There he was finally examined. The diagnosis:

A strained thumb.

Rise in Cost of Living Seen in Regional Survey

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today released cost-of-living indices for eight regional cities as at December 1, 1947.

The city indices are based on August, 1939, equalling 100, while the national index, reported earlier this week to be 146.0, is based on 1935-39 equalling 100 They also measure percentage changes in living costs for each city but cannot be used to compare the cost of maintaining the same standard of living from city to city

In addition, the indices are compiled from budgets appropriate for each city and these differed in cost in the base period, August 1939 For example, the Montreal index includes percentage changes for rents based mainly on rents of apartments and flats, while Toronto figures are calculated principally from single house rents.

They follow	Dec 1946	Dec 1947
Halifax	125.1	141.8
Saint John	125.1	143.9
Montreal	129.1	148.6
Toronto	125.0	144.0
Winnipeg	123.2	140.8
Saskatoon	128.2	147.5
Edmonton	124.8	139.9
Vancouver	126.8	146.0

Building Safe After Blasting

MONTREAL, Jan 9 (CP).—Insurance officials today examined the King's Hall Building, damaged in a gas explosion yesterday, and indicated their preliminary examinations showed no necessity for having the building condemned.

The blast, occurring during the mid-afternoon shopping rush on busy St. Catherine Street, killed one person and injured 10

Vladimir Kaslay, 19 who was killed, was a cleaner in the building When he smelled gas he went to the basement to report to the building engineer who went upstairs to notify authorities

Kaslay previously had been described as a building fireman Owners of the King's Hall Building said they felt this reflected upon them and that because of Kaslay's youth alone he could not have qualified as a building fireman.

Meanwhile an inquest was opened and adjourned until Thursday

Lawyer Awaits Trial Decision

VANCOUVER Jan 9 (CP) —Judgment today was reserved until January 19 in the County Court case of Joseph Anthony McGee, West Vancouver real estate agent and former Calgary lawyer, accused of breaking and entering.

Judge Bruce Boyd said he required time to review evidence offered by counsel

The Crown alleged McGee was caught in the act of removing a silver tea service, radio and a living-room rug from the home of Norman McLeod, West Vancouver

McGee entered no defence except that he had been drinking heavily and had no clear recollection of events leading to his arrest. John L. Farris, defence counsel, argued McGee was too intoxicated to have been capable of "a criminal intent."

McGee counsel said, owned his own home, had a substantial bank balance and was partner in a profitable real estate business.

Inventor Sues Ford Officials

NEW YORK Jan. 9 (AP) —Henry Ford 2nd, the Ford Motor Co., the Dearborn Motors Corp., and seven other officers and directors of the companies were named defendants in a $251,000,000 damage suit filed yesterday in Federal Court by Harry Ferguson, Irish-born machinery inventor.

The suit charged that the defendants infringed on patents by copying the Ferguson line of farm tractors and violated anti-trust legislation by conspiring to drive the plaintiff's firm, Harry Ferguson, Inc. of Detroit, out of business

In a statement at Detroit, Henry Ford 2nd described the complaint as "ridiculous," and "full of untruths" He said Ford officials would be "very happy to meet all of the allegations . . . at the proper time and place"

The complaint involved one of the largest amounts ever sought in a civil action here The suit estimated capital value of the Ferguson company at $80,000,000 and said action of the defendants impeded profitable operation of the company

Crime Falling Says Mulligan

VANCOUVER, Jan 9 (CP) —Police Chief Walter Mulligan today told the Police Commission that crime has decreased in Vancouver in the last three years despite an increase in population of approximately 100,000

He denied charges of the Vancouver Labor Council that crime was mounting and that police administration was "apparently inefficient"

The Labor Council had requested Attorney-General Gordon Wismer to make an investigation of the police department

In his report to the Commission Chief Mulligan declared it was unfortunate "a responsible organization makes such a request before ascertaining the figures."

Chief Mulligan reported that robberies and breaking and entering had decreased and that the total number of arrests was up.

Colin Cameron Wins C.C.F. Nomination for Saanich Seat

One-Time C.C.F. Member for Comox Will Attempt to Stage Comeback

Attempting a comeback in the provincial political field, Colin Cameron, former C.C.F. member of the Legislature for Comox, last night won the C.C.F. nomination for Saanich provincial by-election February 23.

Party stalwart since the C.C.F. came into being in 1933, Mr Cameron was defeated by Coalitionist Herbert J. Welch for Comox seat in the 1945 general election.

Last night he polled 41 votes for a clear majority on first ballot over two other C.C.F. candidates, Martin Neilson, twice defeated candidate in Saanich, in 1941 and 1945, and Mrs. Alice Doyle, C.C.F. District Council secretary.

Mr Neilson received 24 votes; Mrs Doyle, two.

Following nomination of Mr Cameron, C.C.F. Leader of the Opposition Harold Winch addressed the meeting in Douglas Street Hall on the urgent need for a strong opposition in the House.

He attacked the Coalition Government on its failure to introduce a plan of health insurance, despite a clear mandate from the people in the general election of 1937 on the Health Insurance Act passed the year before.

"Passing the buck to Ottawa should stop," Mr Winch declared. "Admittedly British Columbia can't carry the whole of the $30,000,000 charge now involved, but it can make a start. Health is a matter for government."

Referring to Progressive Conservative Leader Herbert Anscomb's recent radio address, he said: "To Anscomb, anything progressive is red or revolutionary."

The Opposition Leader placed at the Provincial Government's door responsibility for housing, and demanded that it should come to grips with the problem of rising living costs.

"The Province has the power if it wants to use it," he said.

More Canadian Exports to U.S. Seen Solution to Economic Ills

Development of markets for Canadian goods in the United States and a higher degree of manufacturing of raw materials by Canadian firms were proposed last night as main solutions to the country's present shortage of United States dollars by Dr Norman A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia.

Dr. MacKenzie also indicated that he would like to see return of some form of price control and rationing to ensure equal division of essential services at a fair price during present "dislocated" times.

In an address to the annual dinner of the Vancouver Island section of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers in Lougheed's Banquet Club, he urged Canadian producers to "find markets in the hard-money countries" and supply home markets more fully with manufactured goods.

BEST JOB

Britain has done the best job of any European country in the present crisis, and conditions there are "tolerable" only because they are equal, he asserted. He expected and hoped that in Canada "we would continue to ensure that all Canadians get a fair share of the essential goods and services available and get them at a price within the cost of production."

He suggested these solutions to economic difficulties:

1. Either borrow money, or, more important, develop more export trade to the United States, which will be difficult because "every attempt will probably run into the vested interests (in the United States) — we may expect natural political opposition."

2. More complete manufacture of goods for export so that higher returns will be gained.

3. Supplying to a greater extent the home markets by manufacture of goods now imported.

4. Increased production of raw materials, such as coal and oil, which we now import from the United States, even though costs are higher.

He said present economic difficulties are due mainly to dislocation in normal trade routine and non-co-operation, exemplified by the "deep gulf" with Russia.

Offer of Open-Air Theatre in City Conditional Upon Beacon Hill Site

The anonymous lady who has offered to build an open air theatre in Victoria has written to Mayor Percy E. George, through her architects, Birley, Wade & Stockdill, advising that the offer is conditional upon the structure being placed in Beacon Hill Park. She also asked for a decision before January 15.

Several citizens living in the Heywood Avenue area have protested erection of the theatre in the park. Others have suggested that it should be placed along the Gorge or at some other place more sheltered from the wind.

A letter written by John Wade, of the architectural firm, noted the controversy which had arisen over the project and stated:

"We are instructed by our client to inform your council that it is her wish, and a governing factor of her gift, that the structure be placed in Beacon Hill Park.

"In her opinion, the location at present under consideration is eminently satisfactory and she hopes negotiations for its use will prove satisfactory.

"Can your council please, therefore, over their individual signatures, give their decision on this point not later than January 15."

Mr. Wade said his firm had been instructed to draw plans for the theatre on the proposed Beacon Hill Park site so there would be no delay in construction.

Mayor George said he would ask the City Council to consider the request during a special council meeting Monday.

Industrial Survey of Lower Island Under Way, Commerce Body Told

An industrial survey in which every effort will be made to gather possible suggestions as to how the industrial life of this area can be developed is now under way, it was reported yesterday by James E. Isaac, director of the recently formed Chamber of Commerce industrial bureau, to a meeting of Chamber of Commerce members at the Douglas Hotel.

It is planned to compile a complete industrial index covering all Lower Vancouver Island, he said. The index will include names of manufacturing firms and details of products of each.

"It is hoped," Mr. Isaac continued, "this will provide information regarding waste or by-products which might result in the creation of new industries."

Purpose of the recently formed industrial bureau is to "maintain and increase the prosperity of Greater Victoria by endeavoring to sustain and develop its industrial well-being."

JAMES E. ISAAC

The bureau, Mr. Isaac explained, was formed to determine what lines of goods now being imported could be manufactured here, and also impress upon retailers the importance of dealing with local industries.

When the industrial survey is completed, it was reported, a special booklet containing the information will be sent to trade commissioners, consulates, embassies and industrial organizations throughout the world.

Prior to Mr. Isaac's report, Mr. Hawes stated that a special group of Chamber of Commerce members would shortly be formed to serve as an advisory committee to the industrial bureau.

Heavy Road Program

No matter what way one turns, the conclusion is presented that a heavy road program faces Greater Victoria, and it is one that cannot successfully be put off or done in a piecemeal fashion. The program will be heavy by reason of a combination of circumstances, among which is the fact that little attention was paid to the roads in the long war period. It will be costly because it involves complete reconstruction of some principal arteries to withstand heavier loads of traffic. It cannot be shelved because all four municipalities have contracted with the transit companies to supply adequate thoroughfares upon which to set up the new transportation system.

Initially the main weight of the program will fall on the shoulders of Victoria; though in meeting that there should be some assurances that the neighboring municipalities will also do their part, else the integrated transit system will not be able to function properly. There will be the triple problems of disposing of the street car tracks, metalling and surfacing reconstructed arteries, and bringing secondary roads up to the condition necessary to carry feeder bus services linking with that system. We doubt if anyone outside of engineering circles could make an accurate estimate of what the whole program may cost. Certainly it will run into several millions of dollars.

In so far as the City is concerned, there seems little, if any, prospect of such a program being financed from revenue, even in a piecemeal fashion. There will be available in part the grant made by the senior traction company towards the removal of the car rails and the remaking of the roadbed. The street car right-of-way, however, is only one third of the driving surface, so that this help is partial at best. What all four communities will have to face is the fact that there is a considerable program to be undertaken, and that action on the matter will have to be taken. Good roads make a community, as poor roads carry it down. To get good roads money will have to be spent. That means borrowing. Any thought that this is a situation that can be patched over, or attended to in little pieces should be laid aside now.

Third Session

The convening of the British Columbia Legislature on March 2, as announced yesterday by Premier Johnson, puts an end to uncertainty as to when members would be called to Victoria this year. It will be the third session of the Twenty-First Legislative Assembly of the Province, and will have as its first new business the choice of a Speaker to take the place of Hon. Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., whose elevation to the Bench took place recently.

Provincial by-elections in Saanich and Cariboo will come first, on February 23, with agreement in Coalition circles as to party choices in those ridings. The actual nominees must be named soon, after a survey of the ridings which is said to be under way now by two members of the Cabinet. Whoever is elected in the two ridings can be seated early in the session, if not at its commencement.

Meeting later than customarily in the year, the House will be hard put to it to vote supply before the current fiscal year runs out on March 31, if indeed that can be done completely. The main debate and the budget debate will come ahead of estimates discussion. Unless this year they are curtailed, they usually require a month. There is precedent, however, for voting supply in part, and finishing the task later.

There will be some changes in the reconvening Legislature at this session. Two changes in the Cabinet, the Premier and Minister of Education; two candidates yet to be chosen at the by-elections to complete the 48 seats; the reappearance of Hon. John Hart as a private member on the Government side of Mr. Speaker; and the loss of Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, due to ill health, will comprise the reorganization to be noticed when the House opens, with peacetime ceremony.

Balkan Troubles

Diplomatic sources are reported to be worried over the likelihood that Europe's satellite Communist states will recognize the "provisional government" proclaimed by the rebel Greek guerrilla leader, Vafiades. Rejection by Yugoslavia of two American suggestions that a halt be placed on arms traffic across its borders flowing to the aid of the rebels is taken as an indication that no heed will be paid to warnings against establishing relations with Vafiades' so-called "state." The situation is full of grave implications for the Western democracies supporting the legitimate Greek government.

Such recognition would be a breach of international ethics, but it has been apparent for some time that Yugoslavia is unmoved by any such consideration. Time was when a British battleship would have entered the Adriatic in much the same way as a policeman approaches a crowd in the street. Its presence, like that of the policeman, would have dispelled any threat of disturbance and peace would have reigned. There are no international policemen nowadays, much to the world's loss. No agency has taken the place once occupied by Great Britain, and this lack is more evident every day.

Recognition by Yugoslavia and Hungary, and probably later by other of the Balkan satellite states, would be an excuse to do openly and on a larger scale what is being done secretly and in lesser measure at present, the giving of assistance to Communist Greek rebels. It would be tantamount to open aggression against another country. [illegible] course, is the formidable backing of the Soviet Government. It is this knowledge that gives Yugoslavia confidence to thumb its nose at Great Britain and the United States, and work towards the spread of Soviet power in another Eastern European country that has managed to stay out of the grip of Communistic domination.

Upward Trend

It is apparent that no matter what the Winter holds for the people of Great Britain they will not be placed in the predicament of a year ago caused by lack of fuel. Only a few months ago it had seemed that the national aim for coal production for 1947 would not be approached even closely, but a welcome change has come over the picture. The goal of 200,000,000 tons which had been set was missed by only 300,000 tons, representing about half a day's work. This will be a heartening accomplishment for the United Kingdom. Upon coal depends literally all the great efforts being made to stimulate economic recovery.

The feat of the miners is being hailed by those who oppose nationalization of the mines as well as supporters. Sincere tribute has been paid to the work of the men who go down into the pits to dig out the coal that keeps British homes and factories running. The 1947 production is not traceable to nationalization but to the renewed toil of the miners who have exceeded their previous efforts. The policy of nationalization may take a considerable time to justify itself or prove its merits, in some cases so far it has hampered rather than increased production. The example of the miners should be a spur to other workers upon whose efforts the recovery of the nation may depend.

As a primary industrial accomplishment, last year's output of coal gives the United Kingdom a good start in its drive for 1948's production. One wonders sometimes, however, how long a nation can be expected to keep its nose to the grindstone without a letup. It will take all the traditional dogged patience and hardihood of the British people to overcome the many difficulties that are ahead. The feat of the miners should lend encouragement. May it be a symbol of the turning of the tide of adversity that has been the ironic reward of unexampled devotion to the cause of humanity during six long years of war.

Mr. D. P. W. Maunsell

The passing in this city yesterday of Mr. D. P. W. Maunsell after a brief illness will be regretted widely in British Columbia legal circles, where he was widely respected and well known. He was 64 years of age. Mr. Maunsell was one of the senior counsel practicing in Victoria, where he had made his home for some 35 years. He was born at Dublin, Ireland, and was a graduate of its famous university. A partner in the law firm of Maunsell & Shaw, Mr. Maunsell engaged in active law practice up until about a month ago, when ill health overtook him. He was a well known figure in British Columbia civil courts, where his word and his arguments were highly respected. Of late years he had engaged more in estate practice than in court cases, although he retained his interest in the courts and in all those who practiced in them. To his widow and son will go the sincere condolences of the community in their sad loss.

Seen in Passing

Probably, if one knew its troubles, the white bear at Beacon Hill Park has one of the most perplexing of problems ever faced by a member of the species. At Gribble or Princess Royal Islands ursus kermodei would hibernate beyond doubt. But in Victoria what is a white (woods) bear to do? The 400-lb. animal seems to sleep on some days and to be active on others; a form of semi-hibernation, if there is such a thing.

Speech, after all, is the most betraying thing in the world. It conveys years, education, knowledge, breeding, habits and thought in a breath. While it is often used to conceal, it always brings to a careful ear more, and a great deal more, than what is said.

The New House

Now first, as I shut the door,
I was alone
In the new house, and the wind
Began to moan.

Old at once was the house
And I was old;
My ears were teased with the dread
Of what was foretold.

Nights of storm, days of mist, without end;
Sad days when the sun
Shone in vain: old griefs and griefs
Not yet begun.

All was foretold me; naught
Could I foresee;
But I learnt how the wind would sound
After these things should be.

THE WATER IN IT
(Brantford Expositor)

Every now and then somebody points with alarm to the size of Canada's liquor bill. The situation is not quite as bad as the statistics make it look, however. In order to obtain a true picture the analyst would have to allow for the considerable extent to which, under regulations, the stuff is watered. And that is not including the watering done in Waterloo.

LIKES CANADA
(Windsor Star)

[illegible] Kitchener, a recent Dutch immigrant by name of Roel Bakker has fallen heir to an $85,000 estate in his homeland. The bequest includes a 300-acre farm, a large one in Holland.

Mr Bakker is returning temporarily to Holland to claim his fortune, but intends to return to this country. No finer tribute could be paid Canada by any immigrant.

TASTE AND APTITUDE
(St Catharines Standard)

Anything which brings stimulating, pleasurable relaxation is recreation. One man's work may be another's play—it's a matter of tastes and aptitudes. Recreation may be closely related, and make a particular contribution to, our daily labor, as long as it is pursued as personal interest and not merely as a continuation of work. In other words, don't work at play. Relax, with pleasurable pastimes, for real benefit.

TORONTO'S DEBT
(Toronto Star)

At the end of 1932 Toronto's gross funded debt was $195,064,861. At the end of 1946 it was down to $72,157,545. At the end of this month it will stand at $71,003,565.

The significance of this figure is not only that it represents a reduction of $124,000,000 in 15 years, but that it is actually $4,000,000 less than the gross debt at the end of 1914, when Toronto had only two-thirds of its present population, and far less than two-thirds of its present wealth.

DEADLY WEAPONS
(Winnipeg Free Press)

Figures made public at Ottawa show there are upwards of 300,000 revolvers and pistols in Canada owned by private individuals and registered with the police. They are the pistols for which permits have been issued. Nobody knows how many more there are unregistered.

Good Canadian citizens have no need of weapons. The Canadian law-enforcement establishment provides all the protection required in this peaceful country.

The remarkable prevalence of deadly weapons, as shown by the Ottawa report, suggests that the proper authorities should make a much closer check upon applicants for pistol or revolver permits.

BILLIONS DON'T MATTER
(Montreal Financial Times)

Following the New York snowstorm we overheard a street car conversation in which the 999 million tons that had to be removed from the streets was mentioned as 999 billion tons—and the difference passed unnoticed. Even in tons of snow a figure increased a thousand times gets no attention. We suppose it is because people have lost all respect for figures in national or international finance. But some day we may have to get back from billions of dollars to millions, from millions to thousands, from thousands to hundreds, and even down to dollars and cents. It's a glum outlook for the pie-in-the-sky spenders—but it has happened before.

GOUZENKO FILM
(Ottawa Journal)

The moving picture on the Gouzenko case, part of which is being made in Ottawa, has irritated two small and inconsequential elements in Ottawa—our Communists and "fellow-travelers" and, in addition, those (probably more numerous) who have no sympathy with Communism but feel that we should forget everything that has happened because to remember it might annoy the Russians.

The first dislike the whole idea because they are Communists before they are Canadians; the second group are led astray by their fear of what could happen if the Russians got really mad at us.

We said the other day that the film should not receive such official approval as would have been implied by permission to take scenes in the House of Commons and in a private member's room, but The Journal thinks it desirable that the picture should be made and for its own part has given the producers all possible co-operation.

It is most important, we think, that the significance of the Gouzenko case should not be lost upon the people of this continent, because there is a very real danger to democracy in subtle, Communistic propaganda, in such infiltration of official and social life as the deplorable Gouzenko case revealed.

Since the end of the war Canada has shipped 2,500,000 board feet of lumber to England.

Test Pilots Have Stiff Training Program

By DAVID CURNOCK

LONDON — Almost all aircraft firms in Britain today have working for them as test pilots, former students of the Empire Test Pilots' School, run by Britain's Ministry of Supply at Cranfield, Bedfordshire.

Experienced pilots from many parts of the world, including the British Commonwealth, the United States, China, Poland, Holland, Belgium, France, Norway and Greece, have all been students at this school.

The Empire Test Pilots' School was established in 1943 at Boscombe Down, Hampshire, to ensure an intake of experienced test pilots then urgently needed by Britain's Ministry of Aircraft Production, which existed in the World War. Before the school was set up the practice had been to take an experienced pilot and nominate him as a test pilot. Under this system he was not given the training and knowledge necessary for him to keep pace with the rapid and revolutionary strides being made in aviation. The job of a test pilot is always highly dangerous, and it was felt that they should be given some special preparation for the exacting task of trying out new aircraft.

Early in 1946 the school was moved to Cranfield in Bedfordshire, and came under the direction of Britain's Ministry of Supply.

Today pilots, many of them the finest and most tried pilots in the world, including civil and military pilots, are taking intensive training courses at Cranfield.

The school is well equipped with a variety of aircraft, including the latest jet-powered aircraft, Lincolns, Lancasters, Mosquitoes, Oxfords, Harvards, Tempests, Spitfires, Meteors, Vampires and Fireflys, altogether totaling some 30 aircraft.

The course lasts two weeks over nine months. It is divided into three main periods. The first seven months is held at Cranfield, which is similar to any airdrome; the second four to five weeks is held at Britain's Royal Aircraft Establishment at Farnborough, Kent. During the next four to five weeks students visit firms in the aircraft industry. This serves the dual purpose of enabling students to meet the firm's experimental and production staffs, and at the same time to study the evolution of new aircraft from the drawing board to the production lines.

The first period at Cranfield is devoted mainly to instruction in the principles and the practice of performance tests. It includes position error measurement, partial climbs, ceiling climbs, level speeds, engine cooling under different conditions, fuel consumption, range and endurance and performance of an aircraft with one or more engines cut out.

In addition lectures are given on gas turbines, high-speed flight, propellers, carburettors and cooling problems.

The student then goes on to handling and stability tests of aircraft which are not so easily subject to the theoretical working out on paper. In this course his opinion plays a large part in arriving at the ultimate data. The course includes the preliminary measurement of aircraft handling apparatus, longitudinal, stability and manoeuvrability, spinning trials, the investigation of the behaviour of aircraft when they are nearly stalling, and the handling of the machine with engines cut. At the end of this course the student has to write a comprehensive handling report on a particular aircraft. It also includes lectures on subjects such as high altitude flying, the application of photography to test work, and armament testing.

At the Royal Aircraft Establishment at Farnborough, students spend much time in the engines and aerodynamic departments. There are also lectures on control behaviour and design of aircraft, propellers, jet propulsion, high-speed flight, tunnel tests, carburation, cooling research, seaplanes and flying boats.

Each student is given close personal attention by the staff and periodic examinations are given to test the progress of the student.

At the conclusion of the course there is no more highly-experienced test pilot in the world than those who pass out from Cranfield. Already close on 200 students have passed out from the school, including many of the most famous flying personalities in the world.—United Kingdom Information Bureau.

MACAULAY CAMP

Sir,—May we, the undersigned tenants of Hut No. 20, Macaulay Camp, be given the opportunity to voice our protest against certain statements made by the reeve and councillors of Esquimalt relating to conditions in Macaulay Camp.

The "disgusting and dirty" cabin was an isolated case and is the only other disturbance we have had in the camp since the recent and justified eviction case of a month ago. Such unjustified and adverse statements verbally and in print are damaging to the majority of peaceable respectable occupants of this camp. We do not live here by choice. We are hoping for better accommodation soon, but these are our homes; not dirty or disgusting, but normal clean, sanitary homes. It is too bad that the Esquimalt electors didn't elect councillors who were capable of clarifying this issue and ready to differentiate between an isolated case and a general condition.

Garbage collections are few and far between. The roads a disgrace. The Rehabilitation Council has begun road improvement, even offers to bear a fair amount of the cost, but the Esquimalt Council rules that Camp Macaulay, and we quote Reeve Thomas, "It is not our responsibility because the property is owned by the Federal Government."

May we state that the criticism of Macaulay Camp is unjustified. The Citizens Rehabilitation Council has been endeavoring to clear up this case since February 15, 1947, and proof of this statement is available at their office.

R. H. HARPER
And Tenants of Hut No. 20, Macaulay Camp, Esquimalt, B.C., January 8, 1948.

FLYING REGULATIONS

Sir,—Mr. Kenton suggests that Reeve Warren and Councillor Hobbs do not understand the regulations governing airport licensing. If this is the case, their perplexity is natural in view of the record.

To conform with the regulations Saanich Council embodied Section (b) in Zoning By-law, 1941 Amendment By-law No. 3, 1947. This section called for the removal of all buildings and structures whose height exceeded one foot for every 30 feet distant from the aerodrome boundary. When it was discovered that this would entail demolition of a large part of the camp housing veterans and their families the inspector of Western Airways was called into consultation. His representative informed council that he would reduce the one in 30 safety zone to one in 20 and apply it only to the line of the runways. This, he informed council, would enable the regulation minimum of two diagonal runways to be constructed at Gordon Head, each runway having a regulation minimum length of 1,800 feet.

When the municipal engineers of Victoria and Saanich attempted to set these runways out on the site they found that one of them fell short of the regulation minimum by 100 feet. It is now clear that, if the ministry is prepared to issue a licence to operate from Gordon Head, the regulations are meaningless.

Mr. Kenton introduces this matter in order to show that regulations prohibit commercial flying from the site, yet, on the front page of your issue in which his letter appears, you quote the inspector, Western Airways, as having stated in writing "the site can be used by aircraft undertaking commercial work." That statement alone is ample justification for the stand taken by Reeve Warren and Councillor Hobbs.

Observation Car

By G.R.

From a Sidney farmer: "It seems senseless to refer to small change as 'chicken feed' when one considers the price farmers pay for food to sustain their hens" . . . At one time a necessity was distinguished from a luxury by its lower price, but now there is no distinction . . . Hon. C. D. Howe claimed there was no austerity in the present program of the Federal Government. Perhaps austerity is not the proper name for inconvenience, irritation, higher taxes, shortages and confusion . . . [illegible] the Reading Squire and a friend were discussing motoring and adventures in the days when automobiles had no self-starters nor electric lights, the man turned to the squire's wife and asked: "Did you ever stop to think how many miles you have driven?" Before she had a chance to reply, the squire answered: "I think she must have driven about 1,000,000 miles, and never had a hand on the steering wheel" . . . A customer insisted on showing Tobacconist Martin a small oil painting of the waterfront from Beacon Hill Park. "It took me three years to paint this masterpiece," the amateur artist commented. "I am no expert on art, but I expect it will take you ten years to sell it," Martin observed . . . Bill, the Broad Street barber, arrived home from the shop with his usual appetite and a great desire to wade into steak and kidney pudding and a jam roly-poly, but was extremely disappointed to find an omelette on the stove. "You know I am not very fond of eggs. How do you expect me to work on stuff like that?" he complained. "You might at least come home in a decent mood. You should be thankful for what you get. You must think I am a slave," his wife retorted. "Of course not. No slave would dare to reply to its master the way you talk to me," Bill answered.

Winter Scheme For Signalmen

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (CP).—It will be a cold Winter for 30 soldiers now undergoing a Winter hardening course at Churchill, Man., for a new scheme known as Exercise Moccasin.

When they complete their present two weeks' course, the 15 men of the Royal Canadian Signal Corps and 15 of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps will move a little south of Churchill and live for eight weeks in temporary camps of tents and igloos. The signals men will test service radio equipment and ground wave ranges for cold-weather operation while the service corps looks after the supply duties.

Two mobile signal stations will travel in snowmobiles towing sleds, spending 12 days at each temporary station they set up. A master station will remain at one spot for the duration of the exercise.

There are few, if any, "rules" in bridge that should not be taken with several grains of salt. Consider, for example, the rule about showing a preference for partner's first-bid suit. Academically it is correct to show this preference, but in actual play this rule, too, needs a little salting.

Let's look at a case.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Double	Pass	Pass

Nothing very terrible happened to South at four hearts—he went down only one trick, 200 points. At the same time, however, he lost the part-score he would have made at three diamonds, plus the "invisible" 50-point value of a part-score.

It may be argued, of course, that since North gave no real encouragement by taking the contract back to three hearts from three diamonds, it was South's fault exclusively that any loss ensued on the hand. To reach this sort of judgment, however, is virtually to ignore the element of "human nature." Look at that South hand! How many players, even very good players, would be able to resist the temptation to try for game merely on the knowledge that West preferred hearts to diamonds, which in itself strongly indicated that North had at least three cards in the heart suit, since with fewer he scarcely would have given even a preference. The answer is that only the most conservative, or timid of South's would "hang" at three hearts in this case. The very fact that South came so close to making four hearts with a hand as miserable as he found opposite him, was some justification for the four-heart bid, because surely North could have done no more if he had had the queen of hearts or of diamonds.

The conclusion must be, therefore, that North should not have given the "preference" for South's first-bid suit, because he should not have given South the slightest chance to go wrong.

Little Stories for Bedtime

HOW CHATTERER HAD FOOLED PETER RABBIT

Chatterer the Red Squirrel is a scamp himself, and not to be trusted Nobody in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadow trusts him. And people who cannot be trusted themselves never trust anyone else Chatterer never does. He is always suspicious. So when Peter Rabbit had said good-bye and started for the dear Old Briar Patch without knowing where Chatterer's new home was Chatterer had made up his mind right away that Peter would never be satisfied until he knew, or thought he knew, where that new house was You see he knew all about Peter's dreadful curiosity Besides, not being honest himself, he didn't believe anyone was honest.

He watched Peter out of sight, then he slipped down out of sight between the stones of the old wall "I know what Peter will do," said he to himself. "Peter will come sneaking back and hide where he can watch me and so find out where my new home is I'll just stay here long enough to give him a chance to hide and then I'll fool him"

You see, Chatterer knew that if he had been in Peter's place he would have done just that thing So he waited a little while and then went back to the place where Peter had left him There he sat and pretended to be looking in the direction in which Peter had gone as if to make sure that Peter was really on his way home. But all the time Chatterer was watching out of the corners of his eyes to see if Peter was hiding anywhere near He didn't see Peter, but he didn't have the least doubt that Peter was somewhere about

After a while he ran over to a hole between the stones of the old wall and pretended to be very busy there just as if it really were the new house he had found. He kept popping in and out and looking around as if afraid that someone was watching him He even got some dry leaves and took them inside as if to make a bed. All the time, although he hadn't seen a sign of Peter, he didn't have the least doubt in the world that Peter was watching him When he grew tired a new idea popped into his shrewd little head He popped out of the hole and sat up on the wall Then he said aloud that verse which had made Peter's ears burn so. He had meant to make Peter's ears burn. He said that verse just as if he really did believe that Peter was not spying on him and was glad of it

And so it was that he saw Peter crawl out from under the little bush where he had been hiding.

When he had finished, he whisked out of sight again to give Peter a chance to get away But this time Chatterer did some peeking himself He hid where Peter couldn't see him, but where he himself could see both ways along the old stone wall and so it was that he saw Peter crawl out from under the little bush where he had been hiding and sneak away in the direction of the dear Old Briar Patch. And he knew that this time Peter really had gone for good

Then Chatterer laughed and laughed to think how he had fooled Peter Rabbit and wished that he could pat himself on the back for being so smart He didn't think of how dishonest and mean it was of Peter to spy on him because, you see, he would have done the same thing himself, and he was judging Peter by himself "One has to have one's wits very sharp these days to keep a secret" chuckled Chatterer

But over in the Old Briar Patch that afternoon Peter Rabbit sat very thoughtful and very much ashamed The thought that he had found out where Chatterer's new house was didn't give him the pleasure that he had thought it would. His ears still burned, for he thought that Chatterer thought he was honest when he wasn't

"I believe I'll go over tomorrow and tell Chatterer all about it and how mean I have been," said he at last. And when he had made up his mind to do this he felt better

Europe Still Has Lots To Offer Western World

Mrs Tilly Rolston, M L A Vancouver in an address entitled "Impressions of Postwar Europe" gave an interesting story of her recent six months sojourn abroad to members of the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon

Belgium Holland Sweden France, Italy, England and Scotland were all included in Mrs Rolston's itinerary and she told a vivid and de[illegible] each country

"I received the very strong impression after two months on the continent and that was that the Old Land has still a great deal to give to us, she stated There is a general erroneous opinion both here and in the United States that Europe is a hindrance to us needing our help with nothing to give but this is definitely not so, Mrs Rolston stressed We can learn a lot from the skilled craftsmen of Europe and they have plenty to teach us

NEEDED AS IMMIGRANTS

"Immigration of Europeans to Canada is necessary if Canada is to keep up production and remain prosperous, Mrs Rolston stated adding that the peoples of Europe with their skilled arts and crafts, are needed in this country as future citizens.

In a brief resume of the countries which she visited Mrs Rolston said that Britain and Holland were the only countries practising the strict austerity programs Everywhere in Europe the American dollar is at a premium and has great purchasing power.

Belgium appears prosperous Mrs Rolston stated, one reason being the rich source of supply from the Belgian Congo There are good wages paid, good pensions and work for almost everyone in Belgium although food and clothing prices are high as elsewhere in Europe

The Scandinavian countries are practically self-supporting and produce most of their needs The family apartment houses, complete with recreational facilities in Gottenberg, Sweden, particularly impressed Mrs Rolston as the most sensible of housing plans

LONDON GRIM AND GRAY

"My first impression of London was grim and gray and forbidding but on closer inspection I realized what a wonderful job of tidying up the British have done "I looked for something to buy to bring back with me but there was really nothing to buy in London, everything is rationed," she said.

The food really got very monotonous and everything you hear about that situation is true, she said To illustrate her point, Mrs Rolston told about traveling on a train in England when the porter brought in stew or fish Being slightly tired of sausages, although admitting they were a bit of a change at first, she ordered the stew only to find it was sausage stew!

In Italy the people seemed happy and carefree and although food costs were high and very little meat there was an abundance of fresh fruit

"The cultivation in Italy is really amazing" Mrs. Rolston said, "the vineyards reach right to the mountain tops" Little of the devastation of war remains in Italy, in so far as buildings and roads destruction.

PARIS NOT GAY

The South of France is also under great cultivation but Paris is not the gay city any more, she stated On the streets she noticed the grim expressions, crippled and poorly-dressed people

The food in France is poor and a meat meal can cost you from $8 to $10 An egg costs 35 cents.

Before returning to Canada Mrs Rolston visited in Scotland and had a great deal of praise for that country Edinburgh was one of the most beautiful cities she visited and to her, was simply out of this world when she saw Edinburgh Castle floodlit during the Industrial Fair.

Mrs Kenelm Drury president of the Victoria Womens Canadian Club, introduced and also thanked Mrs Rolston for her interesting address.

Mrs. Drury also reminded members that the Club was sponsoring the Little Theatre play "Outward Bound" on Tuesday January 20, to raise bursary funds

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—While a handful of oils and assorted industrials made further recovery headway in today's stock market, late selling put the majority of leaders in the minus ranks. Offerings appeared in the final hour, and extreme gains, running to eight points or so in isolated cases, were substantially reduced or converted into declines at the close. Most steels, motors and rails were in the casualty column.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off 3 of a point at 65.7. The market broadened a bit with 1,000 issues registering. Of these, 395 fell and 383 rose.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—Easier trends prevailed in quiet trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials turned over slowly, balancing gains and losses, but Western oils, golds and base metals slipped back. Oils traded heavily among the industrials but few other groups featured.

Imperial Oil was a favorite issue at about 8,000 shares, but the price hovered about yesterday's close. Also active were International Petroleum, unchanged, and McColl, up a fraction. Newsprints, utilities, steels and foods moved fractionally on a balance of gains and losses while liquors were quiet. Nickel added a fraction among base metals where losers were Smelters, East Sullivan, Eureka, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, Labrador, Quemont, Sherritt, and Steep Rock.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—Grains added minor gains today to their current upward move on the Board of Trade and set several new peaks. March, May and December oats made seasonal peaks, and the high for March oats was a record for any contract of that grain. Cash oats set a record at $1.48½ for No. 1 extra heavy red.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 (CP)—Moderate demand from shippers and processors was reported today in oats and barley futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Buying was not as aggressive as in previous sessions. Trade was moderately active, and prices remained firm. Rye futures prices showed an easier tone on light offerings from commission houses. Light buying, attributed to American accounts, came into the market at one stage of trading.

Malaria is one of the oldest diseases known to mankind.

London Market

LONDON, Jan. 9 (Reuters)—Strong investment demand strengthened British funds on the stock market today with Consols 2½ and Treasury 2½s both ½ point higher at 82 and 83½, respectively. Elsewhere there was little movement of interest but industrials were quietly dull although seldom in excess of a few pence.

Movements among oils were irregular in a quiet market. Anglo-Iranian lost 1-16 at 8 9-16, but Shells gained 1-32 at 3 and 27-32. Mining sections were dull despite an attempted rally in Kaffirs. Foreign bonds recorded some support.

Closings: Babcock & Wilcox, 72s; Roots Pure Drug, 59s 10½d; C.P.R. £18½; Central Mining £22½; Consolidated Gold Fields, 70s; Courtaulds, 43s 9d; De Beers, 38s 1½d; Hudson Bay Co., 85s 6d; Metal Box 107s 6d; Mexican Eagle, 16s 4½d; Mining Trust, Ltd., 17s 6d; Rand Mines 118s 9d.

Queen Elizabeth received the first wrist watch in 1572.

At the Theatres

CAPITOL THEATRE Those hilarious highwaymen, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, have again hit the road for Paramount, and their latest excursion is the prize picnic of their many riotous adventures. The new Bing and Bob travel-laugh, "Road to Rio," ends tonight at the Capitol Theatre, with luscious Dorothy Lamour again co-starred with the daffy duo and again providing the most diverting detour in their whacky wanderings.

DOMINION THEATRE "Woo! Woo!" Hugh Herbert adds to the ever-popular Bumstead hullabaloo in Columbia's "Blondie in the Dough" at the Dominion Theatre. The popular comedian is featured with Arthur Lake, Penny Singleton and Larry Simms as Llewellyn Simmons, eccentric biscuit tycoon who likes to putter around kitchens and munch cookies!

ATLAS THEATRE Alan Ladd's heavy coat of tan, acquired while on his ranch, caused a switch in the normal working procedure at Paramount for "Wild Harvest," which ends tonight at the Atlas Theatre. Director Tay Garnett ruled that Ladd didn't need any make-up but that his stand-in must wear it to match the star's bronzed complexion. Ladd plays a tough leader of a combine crew in this story of wheat harvesters, so his suntan was right for the role.

PLAZA THEATRE "Black Narcissus" ends tonight at the Plaza Theatre. It brings to the screen a story of emotion, drama and the mysticism of a little-known part of Northern India. It was written, produced and directed by Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, and is an adaptation of Rumer Goddens' best-selling novel of the same name. It tells the story of a group of Anglo-Catholic nuns who convert the Palace of Mopu, a former harem in the Himalayas, into a convent.

YORK THEATRE Arthur Schwartz and Leo Robins' melodic tunes, all of which are rapidly becoming national favorites, are sung by Morgan, Carson, Martha Vickers and Janis Paige in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," which ends tonight at the York Theatre. They are also rendered by Carmen Cavallaro, the poet of the keyboard, and danced to by Chandra Kaly and his unusual troupe of dancers and the popular tap dancers, the Condos Brothers.

Pictures framed for lasting pleasure by Diggon's.

ROYAL THEATRE In order to complement red hair, which plays such an important part in Clarence Day's celebrated comedy "Life With Father," which is now showing at the Royal Theatre, Warner Bros. used background set colors primarily of pastel shades of green, blue, brown and grey in their screen version. Both of the leading stars, Irene Dunne and William Powell, are seen as red-heads, also their four film children. Color in the film is in Technicolor.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—While a handful of oils and assorted industrials made further recovery headway in today's stock market, late selling put the majority of leaders in the minus ranks. Offerings appeared in the final hour, and extreme gains, running to eight points or so in isolated cases, were substantially reduced or converted into declines at the close. Most steels, motors and rails were in the casualty section.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 65.7. The market broadened a bit with 1,000 issues registering. Of these, 395 fell and 383 rose.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP).—Easier trends prevailed in quiet trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials turned over slowly, balancing gains and losses, but Western oils, golds and base metals slipped back. Oils traded heavily among the industrials but few other groups featured.

Imperial Oil was a favorite issue at about 8,000 shares, but the price hovered about yesterday's close. Also active were International Petroleum, unchanged, and McColl, up a fraction. Newsprints, utilities, steels and foods moved fractionally on a balance of gains and losses while liquors were quiet. Nickel added a fraction among base metals where losers were Smelters, East Sullivan, Eureka, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, Labrador, Quemont, Sherritt, and Steep Rock.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—Grains added minor gains today to their current upward move on the Board of Trade and set several new peaks. March, May and December oats made seasonal peaks, and the high for March oats was a record for any contract of that grain. Cash oats set a record at $1.48½ for No. 1 extra heavy red.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 (CP).—Moderate demand from shippers and processors was reported today in oats and barley futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Buying was not as aggressive as in previous sessions. Trade was moderately active, and prices remained firm. Rye futures prices showed an easier tone on light offerings from commission houses. Light buying, attributed to American accounts, came into the market at one stage of trading.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

CALLING IT THE "BULL MOOSE" PARTY

With presidential candidacies as much in the wind at the present time, terms and slogans come up for discussion which had their origin in dramatic presidential elections of the past. Such a one is Bull Moose, which memorializes Theodore (Teddy) Roosevelt and the historic split in 1912 in the Republican ranks—a split whose consequences for its organization in all sections of the country. The election of an emblem was important, and many symbols were considered, without agreement.

On the evening of the day before the Progressive party's national convention in Chicago, newspaper reporters greeted Colonel Roosevelt, asking him how he felt. And according to William Allen White the great sage of Emporia, who was present, Roosevelt rolled out lustily, snapping his teeth, batting his eyes and grinning.

"I feel as strong as a bull moose!" And thereupon, one of the Progressive party managers exclaimed: "Eureka, we have the emblem!" The bull moose was made the Progressive party "ism," the members of the new party became known as "Bull Mooses" and another item was added to American nomenclature.

While most people recognize the call of the whippoorwill, few have seen the bird as it rarely flies in the daytime.

Pick Toronto Leafs 1947 Team of Year

Nation-Wide Poll Gives N.H.L. Team Nod Over Two Other Ontario Squads

TORONTO, Jan 9 (CP)—Outcome of the most daring rebuild job in hockey history, Toronto Maple Leafs today stood as the team of the year in Canadian sport. They rated above two other great clubs, also wearing colors of Ontario's capital, in The Canadian Press year-end poll.

The creaking Leafs machine which finished out of the National League play-offs in 1946 but rolled back to win the Stanley Cup a year later, impressed voting sports writers even more than Toronto Argonauts, who won their third successive Dominion football title, and Toronto St. Michael's College Dominion junior hockey champs.

Manager Conn Smythe gambled on youth when he assembled his club at training camp for the 1946-47 season and the move paid off. With a team studded with seven rookies the Leafs swept past Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup semi-finals and then dethroned the mighty Montreal Canadiens.

In a poll of 26 scribes voting on a point basis of 3-2-1 in order of choice, the Leafs aggregated 45 of a possible 78. The Argos, who defended their football laurels in a titanic struggle with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, gained 34 points and St. Mike's 23.

The Leafs' choice marked the second successive year that an N.H.L. club has been named the Dominion's outstanding team and they succeed the Canadiens. The vote followed the same pattern as 1946 when the Argos finished second and Winnipeg Monarchs, then junior puck titlists, third.

Only individual Leaf to gain recognition was Howie Meeker, twice-wounded young New Hamburg, Ont., war veteran, who was named rookie of the year. The little right winger, his legs torn by shrapnel, was in a class by himself among the loop's freshmen.

In his rebuild effort designed to give Toronto a winning team in a few years, Smythe lopped such great boughs as Sweeney Schriner, Lorne Carr and Bob Davidson from the aging Leafian tree. He shocked the cash customers by trading popular Billy Taylor for younger Harry Watson of Detroit.

But his big gamble—the one which brought a world championship overnight—was injecting seven rookies into his line-up. Besides Meeker, Smythe gave Coach Hap Day such green material as Vic Lynn, Joe Klukay, Jimmy Thomson, Bill Barilko, Gus Mortson and Garth Boesch.

Day never received the nod in the all-star poll but unquestionably he was the coach of the year for moulding an inexperienced club around such oldsters as Goalie Turk Broda, Captain Syl Apps and ever-green Nick Metz. And in his drive to retain the Stanley Cup, Hap still has the same rookies and the same three oldsters.

Canadian Olympic Hockey Team Sails for Europe

R.C.A.F.-Civilian Squad Given O.K.—Olympic Amateur Rules Opposed

REGINA, Jan 9 (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association voted approval today of its executive's decision to send a combined R.C.A.F.-civilian hockey team to the Olympic Winter Games, but delegates to the C.A.H.A.'s semi-annual meeting made it clear they still were opposed to Olympic definitions of amateurism.

Secretary-Manager George Dudley, who has watched the team—now en route to Europe—since its formation, told delegates they won't be disappointed at the results but confessed it was a "great disappointment" when he saw their first game.

Although the C.A.H.A. had previously decided not to compete in the games unless stringent Olympic amateur codes were modified, President Al Pickard said Canada would have been misunderstood "if we had refused to participate because we didn't get our own way."

A mailed poll of the executive voted for Olympic participation "if at all possible" and left the decision to the officers, Pickard said.

Dudley said the team's main weakness was "they haven't been properly integrated" since the addition of civilian players to the original R.C.A.F. crew, but pre-Olympic exhibition games in Europe should help overcome this difficulty.

The Association also:

1. Ratified an agreement signed this Summer with the National Hockey League governing playing transfers and suspensions.

2. Voted to stop further transfers to the Scottish Hockey League until the Scottish League paid $8,000 in transfer fees from the 1946-47 season.

3. Changed the site of its annual meeting from New York to Toronto because of U.S. currency problems.

College Cagers Score Triumph

The intermediate "B" basketball game stole the spotlight at the Victoria High School gymnasium last night as the Victoria College cagers made a first period margin stand up for a 35-26 triumph over Elks.

Oakley sparked the Collegians to a 13-5 margin in the opening canto, and the teams divided 12 points in the second quarter and 14 in the third. Students increased the lead to 16 points early in the final canto and held off a late rally by the Clubmen.

Scoring was evenly divided for the winners with McKinnon, Pauls and Oakley each counting eight points, and Saywell garnering seven. Glancy was high scorer for losers with 10.

Eagles waltzed to a 76-11 verdict over the winless Canadian Scottish quintette in the senior "B" contest with Jimmy Ranson and Cranston Browning paving the way with 25 and 18 points, respectively.

Birdmen counted 12 points before the soldiers could make an impression on the score sheet, and held a 36-8 margin at the half. The Kilties could only manage one free toss in each of the last two periods.

Canadian Legion Midgets rebounded from a bad first period to take a 23-9 decision from Royal Arcanum in the opening tilt.

NORM JOHNSON

Six-foot-three-inch centre for Elks' classy squad of cagers from Seattle who will be in his usual position when Sound City quintette tangles with K.V.'s in exhibition attraction at Victoria High School tonight at 8 p.m. Johnson is tallest member of team that includes Leland Beese, Dominic Vendetti, Eric Grant, Gordie Roberts, Ross Lunbeck, Bud Ridings and Paul Ross. Elks appear to be on way to dethroning Alpine Dairy squad as top northwest independent hoop aggregation. They have lost two games out of nine this season, one to Alpines and the other Thursday to Detective School, 28-27, and at present are league leaders. Seattleites are expected to get plenty of competition from Harold Turner's speedy K.V. cage artists who have been really rolling in local league lately. Preliminary at 7.30 pits Spencer's against Duncan intermediate "B" five.

V.H.S. Blacks Win

Jean Suffern potted 24 points to lead the Victoria High School Blacks to a 27-10 triumph over Mount View girls in the opening game of the second-half schedule in the Inter-High School Senior Girls' Basketball League yesterday.

Louis' Contract May Be Invalid

CAMDEN, N.J., Jan. 9 (AP).—Felix Bocchicchio, who handles the fistic activities of Jersey Joe Walcott, hinted today the contract Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis signed this week to fight in New York in June might not be binding.

Bocchicchio said Louis promised Philadelphia Promoter Herman Taylor and himself he would not agree on a date and site for his next bout before January 18.

Taylor had made Louis and Walcott an offer for a bout at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium in June.

WANDERERS' LINE-UP

Oak Bay Wanderers' line-up for the game against Victoria College will be selected from the following: Whittingham, Roberts, Beaton, Jacklin, Olson, Griffith, Blyth, Vidler, Mill, Johnson, Poote, Main, Young, Prevost, Rutchison, Pratt, Gripp and Sayne.

Maxim Defeats Tandberg In Split-Decision Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP).—Cleveland's Joe Maxim defeated the heavyweight title hopes of one Olle Tandberg, a crude workman from Stockholm, Sweden, by pounding out a split ten-round decision over the upset conqueror of Joe Baksi in a bruising battle tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Maxim gave away 29 pounds to the towering Swede, who weighed 208 pounds to the winner's 179, but he earned the votes of Referee Eddie Josephs and Judge George Le Cron. Judge Charles Shortell thought Tandberg won by a margin of five rounds to four with one even. Josephs and Le Cron gave Maxim a 7-3 edge.

The Associated Press score card gave it to Maxim 7 to 2 with one even.

When Shortell's ballot for the Swedish invader was announced a roar of disapproval went up from the crowd of 10,488 who contributed to a gross gate of $43,670.

The tall, lumbering Tandberg was the aggressor throughout most of the battle, but he was missing badly with his wild swings, while the clever Maxim landed consistently with his educated left hand. Much of the battle was fought at close range.

There were no knockdowns. Maxim clutched inside and pounded to the body, while Olle tried to pull away to take advantage of his superior reach.

Welsh's Rink in Narrow Defeat As Bonspiel Trimmed to 16's

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 9 (CP).—The major upset to date in the $23,000 second annual Nipawin Automobile Bonspiel came in the early morning draw today when giant-killer Alex Imrie of Flin Flon, Man., upset Dominion Champion Jimmy Welsh on the 12th end.

With the completion of the 11 a.m. draw, the field in the No. 1 event narrowed down to the 16's.

Howard Wood of Winnipeg, last year's Nipawin winner, was one of the first to reach the 16's when he defeated Grant Watson of Winnipeg 10-8. Watson led the veteran Wood until the 10th end, when Wood picked up four points as Watson was light on two open take-outs on shots at the back of the house.

Leo Johnson, the other Winnipeg skip in action on the draw, had no trouble disposing of E. Folstad of Weldon, 14-7.

Main attraction of the 3 p.m. draw was a 13-end match between Willard Cleveland of Fairlight, Sask., a former resident of this town, and Jack Bentley of Delisle, Sask., which resulted in a victory for the latter by an 11-10 margin in the No. 2 event.

Olympic Pucksters Have High Hopes

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (CP).—Members of Canada's 1948 Olympic hockey team sailed today for Europe expecting to gain a string of ice victories despite the lukewarm hopes of Dominion experts.

"We have a good team and should have no trouble with the Europeans," said Coach Sgt. Frank Boucher. "The U.S. team will be the one to beat," added the 39-year-old Ottawan, who played professional hockey with Philadelphia Ramblers and Providence Reds before joining the R.C.A.F. in 1940.

Ocean voyages are nothing new for most of the R.C.A.F. Flyers, a 20-man group including Sqdn. Ldr. A. G. (Sandy) Watson, manager, and Trainer Cpl. George McFaul, both of Ottawa. Majority of the players were overseas during the war and L.A.C. Roy Forbes of Vancouver, a former bomb aimer, recalled as he walked up the gangplank of the liner Queen Elizabeth today:

"This is a bit different than the last time I crossed on the Lizzie—I was lugging a kit bag then."

The players, ranging in age from 18 to 33, were loaded down with gifts—everything from the traditional silk stockings to peanut butter — for relatives and wartime friends.

A wedding ring was the most important item carried by F/O. Hubert Brooks, M.C., 25-year-old Montreal forward who will wed Birthe Grontved of Copenhagen, at St. Moritz, Switzerland, February 10—the day the Olympic championships end. The competitions start January 30.

Brooks, who met Miss Grontved while he was a member of a Missing Persons Research team in Europe, is one of the five men of the R.C.A.F. awarded a Military Cross during the war. The award followed his escape from a German prisoner-of-war camp.

Romance may be mixed with hockey in Brooks' thoughts but Boucher has his eye only on the puck.

"I'm rather glad we have not been expected to do very well," he said. "Now we will be able to show how good we are."

He stressed that the team had won four of seven exhibition games even while in a disorganized state. They would have several warm-up games before the championships.

BLACKPOOL, England (CP).—Four escaped crocodiles were held at bay by a theatre night watchman while Yogi Koringa, who makes them perform on the stage, was brought to get them under control.

"Nothing," he said, "as vital as this. Children, home, drying apricots."

"Exactly what five million other women are doing in America at this moment—with the possible exception of the apricots!"

"Well, perhaps." He did not dispute it. He said that he must go, and Loveday walked with him to his car and asked him when she would see him again.

"But of course you don't know, you never know where you are going to be, do you? I don't wonder people think they would like to be writers, because wherever you can carry your typewriter you can have your whole business." She looked up at him in the shadows of the dark tall trees with a glint of star-shine catching her eyes. "It's been great fun having you here, Chris," she said, her heart beating fast.

"I saw what I came to see," he answered her, getting into his car. There was no other farewell except his casual call of "good-night!" as the car started.

CHAPTER XXII

At noontime, after Owen had been fed and put down for his nap, she was superintending the small girls' midday meal when Chris came up to the terrace. The world thrilled for her as if a resonant note had been struck on some great cosmic harp.

"Oh, listen now, weren't you supposed to be in San Francisco this morning?"

"It wasn't important," Christ answered. "Hello, ladies!" I asked the man in the candy store what sort of [illegible] awered. "Hello, ladies!" I asked the molasses taffy. So here it is."

"And what do you say?" Loveday broke a bar of the candy in two, wrapped the segments in cuffs of oiled paper. "Sit here nicely and eat these," she directed the twins, "for I don't want you to get your beds all sticky."

"Do they go to bed now?"

"Naps. That's the general idea," Loveday said, gathering mugs and bowls and fragments of bread neatly on a tray.

"How about a sandwich and a glass of milk for me?" Chris asked.

"Oh, well, of course!" Loveday answered, a little confused. "I'll take these children upstairs and settle them down and see what I can find."

"I suppose it would be completely useless to expect you to run off with me somewhere for lunch?"

"Completely . . . Oh, what sticky hands!" Loveday said to the little girls. "Come along, sweets. I'll be back in ten minutes, Chris."

She had changed her dress, when she reappeared carrying a tray. She wore a thin tennis frock of striped blue and darker blue, with a red leather belt and a bunch of red shining cherries on her shoulder. In her ears she had put red cherry earrings; she laughed ingenuously as she saw his pleasure to her appearance.

"This is my new outfit, and I thought that if ever there was an occasion for it this was the occasion. When I bought it—in Indian Hill, by the way, and for three ninety-five—I didn't dream I'd have a distinguished New York playright for luncheon!"

"It's charming," Chris said, "and I don't believe that three ninety-five stuff for one minute!"

"What do you know about dresses?"

"Not much. But something of women. I've known women to pay more than a hundred dollars for a dress like that—at one of the Avenue stores."

"Those shops! Oh, it must be so exciting," Loveday said, half serious, half yearning, "to have the saleswomen come out and show you dresses and hats and furs and lovely thin silk coats and shawls, and to have everything new—a touch of this and a twist of that to show every women who meets you that you belong, that you know what you're wearing! Just once!"

"I've been wondering why you couldn't take a little holiday and see New York. In October, say. That's the best month of the year. We could take a run up to Connecticut, and you'd go out of your senses over the red leaves, and I'd take you to whatever first nights there were. Don't look so scared!" Christ interrupted himself, laughing. "I mean only for two or three weeks. It would be a break for you."

"A break!" she echoed, mildly scornful.

"Mother's going on with Nini for trousseau shopping," he reminded her. "My name doesn't have to come into it at all. I'd only have to say to mother, 'Why not bring Loveday? She needs a holiday,' and I bet she'd fall for it like a ton of Coos Bay coal. I'd tell her that I might be there and might not, which is quite true."

"It all sounds too utterly open and frank and simple!" Loveday commented, and they both laughed. "A holiday like that would be dazzling my wildest dreams," she went on seriously, "for I've never been anywhere, except to the convent, and while educational that wasn't exciting. But to go on with your mother and Nini and see Fifth Avenue and Rockefeller Centre and Central Park! Larry and Annie Luin could run things here. I haven't the right clothes, of course——"

She stopped, quite breathless. Then the light died from her eyes and she shook her head.

"But of course it's quite impossible," she said, spacing and stressing her words slowly.

"Nonsense!" Chris said. "We aren't traveling by covered wagon these days. You get on a plane here at 6 o'clock in the afternoon and you lunch with me the next day—let me see where? I like the Chambord because it's Paris. But you might like—yes, we'd go to the Waldorf, just for the sound of it. Then we'd walk up to the park, looking in all the windows——"

"Ah stop, Chris! No fair! But someday I will—with Martha and Betsey to do the shopping. When Grandfather Gurney's money is found!"

She had turned the conversation deliberately; they fell to talking of the lost fortune and of the extraordinary chance of Hugh's discovery of his own identity. Loveday's eyes shone when she mentioned her brother.

"You can't think how thrilling it is to have this clever young doctor suddenly with a room in our house, quite free to come and go here and to kiss me!"

"I might be able to have some ideas on that subject," Chris said dryly. He saw here bright color come up.

U.B.C. to Contract in Decade Victoria Lions Club Informed

Next phase in the "romantic saga" of the University of British Columbia will come when the present record enrolment drops to a normal level of about 5,000 students and the university contracts after the postwar boom, Dr Norman A. M MacKenzie, U.B.C president, said yesterday.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Victoria Lions Club at Melody Lane, Dr. McKenzie said he expected the present enrolment of 9,200 to drop by more than 1,000 next year and level off to around 5,000 in the early 1950's

"From now on, it will be a business of consolidation and contraction," he explained "The problem will be to take the resources we have developed to look after 6,000 students and fit them to the needs of 6,000 In some ways, contraction is even more difficult than sudden expansion"

Growth during the last three years was so great that, in effect, three more universities had to be created on the Point Grey campus when registration jumped to nearly 10,000 from 2,400, he told the meeting

The increase was met by using former army huts as lecture rooms, offices and homes for students and all of the huts were transported from Tofino alone.

On housing, the university provided accommodation for 500 families with children, 700 single men and women Eighty-one families live in three trailer camps where the university fixed up the grounds built a central service room, and even provided washing machines.

DR N. A. M MACKENZIE

Through it all, Dr MacKenzie said the university kept up its standards and today, "in respect of staff and students, it is in my opinion outstanding, and one of the best universities of its kind that I know anywhere"

Belief that "considerably more" harbor improvement work would have been completed now had Victoria been under the management of a central harbor authority, was expressed by Fred Hawes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce harbor and industrial development committee, which met at the Douglas Hotel yesterday.

Walter S. Miles, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and among guests at the luncheon meeting supported Mr. Hawes' remarks by saying 1948 would be "an important year for the Pacific coast of Canada"

"Victoria could well become within the next three or four years one of the most important shipping ports of the Pacific," he said, "and now is the time to plan and act

"We can not expect the Government to do everything we must help ourselves Let's make full use of our opportunities"

Work to Start Sunday On Courtenay Hatchery

COURTENAY, Jan. 9 — Courtenay and Cumberland fishing enthusiasts under the direction of Game Warden Rex Hayes will start Sunday on clearing work for the new $12,000 fish hatchery which is to be built on a site just below the Puntledge River power house, four miles from Courtenay.

Work on the hatchery itself, which will produce an estimated 1,000,000 trout fingerlings each year, will begin as soon as the game commission has completed blueprints and secured necessary materials.

It is intended to use local labor and materials on the project as much as possible.

The hatchery will have a greater capacity than the two present Island hatcheries at Sooke and Qualicum combined.

The present hatcheries will be discontinued when the Courtenay hatchery is completed about April 1.

The water committee of the Courtenay City Council will confer next week with British Columbia Game Commission officials regarding arrangements for supplying the hatchery with water from the city's new pipeline

In a letter to the council, Game Commissioner James Cunningham said the temperature of the water in the Puntledge River during July and August reached a point dangerous to young trout, and asked if it would be possible for the city to supply water to the hatchery at a nominal fee for those two months He also requested a water supply for the months of October and November when, he said, falling leaves rendered the river water unfit for very young fish.

If the council is prepared to grant the request, the commissioner said the Government would construct an 1,150-foot four-inch water main from the nearest point on the city water line to the hatchery.
